An aerial photograph of Hotel San Cristóbal Baja, a large, modern, white, multi-story resort building with multiple terraces and balconies. The hotel is situated on a sandy beach, with a steep, rocky cliff rising behind it. The ocean is visible in the background, with a few small boats. In the foreground, there are rows of palm trees and a field of low-lying green plants with red flowers. A paved area with several cars and a white van is visible near the hotel entrance.
